

July 10, 1917.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your letter of June 20th, 1917, in regard to the naming of the mountain for Hon. Richard W. Goode, formerly of the United States Geological Survey:

The recommendation was made by Mr. Thomas G. Cerdine, and approved by Director Smith, both of whom were familiar with the mountain in question. I am returning the Stehakin Quadrangle sheet forwarded with your letter. The mountain named by the Geographic Board as Goode is the one called North Star Mountain on which is located a triangulation station. On your map the forester has struck out North Star Mountain and inserted the name "Bonanza Mountain." I believe the Board's decision is all right, as neither the name North Star nor Bonanza Mountain seem to be of any particular significance as applied to this peak. As there seems to be considerable doubt as to which of the mountains should be named North Star it would be well, I think, to establish a new name for the peak upon which the triangulation station is located.

Very truly yours,

Secretary.

Mr. W. B. Greeley,
Assistant Forester,
U. S. Forest Service,
Washington, D. C.